

Secure Resilient Networks

CI-Net Professional Services

The perfect addition to your WAN management team

As businesses rely more and more on secure communication with remote workers, clients and suppliers the ability to trust the people you choose to deliver and support your WAN becomes vital.

CI-Net is a well established Wide Area Network specialist, which provides business critical WANs that are secure, resilient, flexible and rapid to deploy. We do this by using innovative technology, backed up by a dedicated professional services team who have a combined 100 years of experience in networks and IP services. It is this depth and breadth of knowledge that our customers benefit from most of all.

Core competence

Our core competence is the seamless deployment and management of IP infrastructure to support specific customer needs. We develop an intimate knowledge of your unique infrastructure so that our consultants can behave as if they are members of your IT department.

With the massive expansion of IP technology comes new challenges for all businesses. One of these is the time and cost incurred in finding, recruiting and retaining the right skills to manage your remote connectivity, whether a multi-location WAN or remote access to central systems for a few employees. CI-Net has a team of dedicated professionals who understand the technology inside-out and are always researching new technologies that can be harnessed to give you a real competitive edge. The peace of mind that the ability to tap into this resource brings is highly valued by many of our customers.

The expertise you need

CI-Net brings together people, innovative technologies and products to offer its customers a broader, more flexible approach to WAN development, which is supported by a dedicated professional services team. The quality of our people, their depth of knowledge and their ability to find the best of breed technologies are not only key to the success of CI-Net, but also the reasons why customers return to us time and time again and recommend CI-Net to others.

From initial specification and design, through to ongoing support and full system management you can be certain that the CI-Net Professional Services Team will be with you every step of the way.
